In 1949 the Presidential Council of Fondazione Querini Stampalia decided to start the restoration of some parts of the Palace. The director of the Foundation Manlio Dazzi commissioned Carlo Scarpa with the restoration of a part of the ground floor and the back garden, which were in very bad conditions. The project was completed just ten years later thanks to Giuseppe Mazzariol, friend and supporter of the Venetian master.

The renovation of the Fondazione Querini Stampalia is a great example of how Master Carlo Scarpa integrated the new with the old. Fondazione Querini Stampalia was established in 1869 by Count Giovanni Querini, the last descendant of the Querini Stampalia family. It used to be a family home for the prominent Venetian Querini Stampalia family, considered one of the families that founded the city.

Per testamento, nel 1868 la lungimiranza di Giovanni Querini volle la Fondazione, con il museo e la biblioteca, aperta alla circolazione del pensiero, con lo sguardo sulla contemporaneità. Di tutto questo le architetture di Scarpa per la Querini Stampalia sono il manifesto vivo: l'acqua vi scorre dentro e la luce le attraversa, liberamente.

Fondazione Querini Stampalia: nel segno di Carlo Scarpa

2016 Architecture Biennale opened to the public on May 28th in Venice, city in which Carlo Scarpa developed much of his work. One of them, his intervention at the Palazzo Querini Stampalia is developed around four articulated themes linked to venetian tradition: The bridge, the lightest held in the city; the water entering into the building; the Portego, traditional space in Venetian palaces and the Garden.

Complice un aperitivo nella caffetteria del museo, ne ho approfittato per rivedere gli interventi di Carlo Scarpa alla Fondazione Querini Stampalia di Venezia. La storia del palazzo come polo culturale è una delle vicende architettoniche più interessanti della città di Venezia dagli anni '60 dello scorso secolo ad oggi, assieme al recupero dell'Arsenale e di Punta della Dogana.

Reviewing the use of natural light by architects in the era of electricity, this book aims to show that natural light not only remains a potential source of order in architecture, but that natural lighting strategies impose a usefully creative discipline on design. Considering an approach to environmental context that sees light as a critical aspect of place, this book explores current attitudes to natural light by offering a series of in-depth studies of recent projects and the particular lighting issues they have addressed. It gives a more nuanced appraisal of these lighting strategies by setting them within their broader topographic, climatic and cultural contexts.

Architecture in detail.

Survey of the thirty best recent design work for cultural clients, including galleries, museums, theatres and auditoriums. The focus is on new identities and their application, as well as smaller design solutions as gallery guides, promotional programmes, exhibition catalogues, theatre programmes, branded merchandising, websites, signage systems and temporary exhibition design.

The experience of architectural spaces is formed by the way they are staged. The Drama of Space examines the composition and articulation of architectural spaces in terms of spatial dramaturgy, as a repertoire of means and strategies for shaping spatial experience. This fundamental approach to architectural design is presented in four parts: Archetypal principles of spatial composition are traced from the study of three assembly buildings of the early modern period in Venice. Theatre, film, music, and theory provide background knowledge on dramaturgy. Detailed analyses of 18 international case studies offer new perspectives on contemporary architecture. The book ends with a systematic presentation of the dramaturgy of space, its parameters and tools, in architectural design.

This book takes its inspiration from a seminal essay by Carlo Ludovico Ragghianti, the great art historian and critic, on the temporality of the image and the "processing" character of vision, examining cinema, art, dance, and architecture.

Franco Albini's works of architecture and design, produced between 1930 and 1977, have enjoyed a recent revival but to date have received only sporadic scholarly attention from historians and critics of the Modern Movement. A chorus of Italian voices has sung his praises, none more eloquently than his protégé, Renzo Piano. Kay Bea Jones's illuminating study of selected works by Studio Albini will reintroduce his contributions to one of the most productive periods in Italian design. Albini emerged from the ideology of Rationalism to produce some of Italy's most coherent and poetic examples of modern design. He collaborated for over 25 years with Franca Helg and at a time when professional male-female partnerships were virtually unknown. His museums and installation motifs changed the way Italians displayed historic artifacts. He composed novel suspension structures for dwellings, shops, galleries and his signature INA pavilions where levity and gravity became symbolic devices for connoting his subjects. Albini clarified the vital role of tradition in modern architecture as he experimented with domestic space. His cohort defied CIAM ideologies to re-socialize postwar housing and speculate on ways of reviving Italian cities. He explored new fabrication technologies, from the scale of furniture to wide-span steel structures, yet he never abandoned the rigors of craft and detail in favor of mass-production. Suspending Modernity follows the evolution of Albin's most important buildings and projects, even as they reveal his apprehensive attitudes about the modern condition. Jones argues here that Albin's masterful use of materials and architectural expression mark an epic paradigm shift in the modern period.

Confabulation is a drawing together through storytelling. Fundamental to our perception, memory, and thought is the way we join fractured experiences to construct a narrative. Confabulations: Storytelling in Architecture weaves together poetic ideas, objects, and events and returns you to everyday experiences of life through juxtapositions with dreams, fantasies, and hypotheticals. It follows the intellectual and creative framework of architectural cosmopoiesis developed and practiced by the distinguished thinker, architect, and professor Dr. Marco Frascari, who thought deeply about the role of storytelling in architecture. Bringing together a collection of 24 essays from a diverse and respected group of scholars, this book presents the convergence of architecture and storytelling across a broad temporal, geographic, and cultural range. Beginning with an introduction framing the topic, the book is organized along a continuous thread structured around four key areas: architecture of stories, stories of architecture, stories of theory and practice of stories. Beautifully illustrated throughout and including a 64-page full colour section, Confabulations is an insightful investigation into architectural narratives.

Libraries have quietly changed over the last 20 years. They have adapted early and consciously to the changes of digitalization, they have recognized the changed need of their users for collaborative work and derived new spatial concepts from this. Transparency and access to information, knowledge and encounters are the prerequisites for holistic social development. It is the challenge of the 21st century as the information age. This book presents the latest developments in library architecture as well as the way scientists and architects are meeting this challenge. With essays by Achim Bonte, Catherine Lau, Max Dudler, Georg Gewers, Henning Larsen Architects, MSAO Architects, Claudia Lux, Marco Muscogiuri, Schmidt Hammer Lassen Architects, Snøhetta, Sauerbruch Hutton, gmp Architects followed by a conversation with Oliver Jahn and Dante Bonuccelli.
