production in modern India and its dramatically changing significance in the 20th century.

Self Healing Through Intrinsic Medicine. The therapy outlined in this book is an entirely drugless, and self-dependent system of healing. The only ingredient is a substance manufactured in the body, rich in mineral salts, hormones, and other vital substances - namely human urine.

"Beautifully written, erudite, a perfect balance between theory and ethnography. The narratives are wonderful."—E. Valentine Daniel, author of Charred Lullabies "No book in medical anthropology matches No Aging in India in its extraordinary richness of ethnographic detail. A feast of stories, lives, and theory--it contains such a thickness of social experience that the reader feels he or she has become a part of India's local worlds. Lawrence Cohen has written one of the finest ethnographic monographs I have read. A triumph of field research and writing, this book will, I feel sure, set the standard for the next wave of ethnographies in medical
